

SOMMAIRE

INTRODUCTION — Marie-Odile Pittin-Hedon	11
--	----

I. WOMEN IN HISTORY AND MYTH

Mary (1977) and Margaret (2000): perspectives on the representation of Scottish historical figures — Ian Brown	23
Calédonia, du concept aux représentations — Jean Berton	43
Three women in the Scottish cultural landscape: Deirdre, Grainne and Medb — Céline Savatier-Lahondès	59
La place de la femme dans le mouvement covenantaire, 1637-1685 — Sabrina Juliet	77
Marie of Lorraine-Guise and the idea of a “Franco-Scotland” (1548-1560) — Annette Bächstadt	89
Les femmes Makars : ambassadrices de l’Écosse contemporaine — Christelle Ferrere	105

II. WOMEN IN POLITICS AND CULTURE

Un enjeu genré ? Les femmes écossaises et l’indépendance — Gilles Leydier	121
Les femmes, les politiques publiques et le Scotland Act de 2016 — Edwige Camp-Pietrain	135
Class rather than gender: Women in the Scottish Labour Movement, 1900-1945 — Christian Civardi	153
The contribution of the Women’s Freedom League to the cause of women’s suffrage in Scotland — Sarah Pedersen	163
Living Culture in Scotland: cherished by women, commandeered by men? — Alison McCleery	175
Legitimizing and propagating the ideology of domesticity: the People’s Journal of Dundee (1858-1867) — Christian Auer	195
‘The Lass o’ Pairts’; the working class female student in literature and reality in Scotland — Alison Taylor McCall	205
Personal, National, and International Testimony in Willa Muir’s Life-Writing — Margery Palmer McCulloch	219
Woman Readers and the Scottish Imaginary — Alistair McCleery, David Finkelstein and Linda Fleming	229

III. CONTEMPORARY SCOTTISH WOMEN’S LITERATURE

Mothers and Daughterlands in Contemporary Scottish Women’s Literature — Glenda Norquay	245
Agnes Owens’s strong fighting women, or the insurrection of small, invisible lives — Benjamin Toussaint	261
Rediscovering the currency of Scottish women’s voices in Ali Smith’s Shire — Jess Orr	277
Rewriting myths and writing herstory in Ali Smith’s Girl Meets Boy — Sarah Bisson	289

Morna Pearson et la comédie tragique domestique « Doric » : cherchez la femme... — Danièle Berton-Charrière	303
Women Writing the Wild — Camille Manfredi	325
Notes on contributors	339